Stalingrad Battle in Thirtieth Day; Fighting Is Savage

Gravest Danger Still Prevails Although Nazis Are Checked

By ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press War Editor

Russian troops slipping westward across the Volga river at night were reported to have driven the Germans from houses, buildings and streets amid savage hand-to-hand fighting in one section of Stalingrad today as the siege entered its 30th day with the invaders still held at arm's length.

At midday, soviet headquarters acknowledged that German infantry, led by tanks, captured several streets, but its communiqué declared:

"On other sectors, all enemy attacks were repulsed."

More than 1,400 nazis were listed as killed and 17 tanks knocked out of action in the 24 hours.

Nazi field headquarters said German troops had captured further ground in the "center of Stalingrad."

The German command also noted "severe defensive fighting" in the Voronezh zone, 300 miles northwest of Stalingrad.

On the Stalingrad front, the Russians said the German siege armies had sacrificed nearly 6,000 troops in three days and that Hitler, desperately seeking a September victory on the Volga, was sending 1,000 bombers into the assault in a single day.

While the gravest danger prevailed inside Stalingrad, soviet dispatches said the Germans were now actually losing ground northwest and southwest of the battle-ravaged Volga metropolises.

Field messages to Red Star, the soviet army newspaper, said Russian shock troops had driven the Germans from a number of positions in the northwest and recaptured a village in the southwest.

Red Star declared also that the Germans had lost several thousand troops and 22 tanks in a two-day battle for an important height—perhaps referring to a hill overlooking the heart of Stalingrad.

Report of Book Out

Meanwhile, reports reaching Stockholm, relayed by Reuters, said Adolf Hitler had dismissed Field Marshal Fedor von Bock, commander of the Stalingrad assault, as a result of a clash over campaign strategy.

These reports said the dispute arose over Hitler's insistence on simultaneous drives against Stalingrad and the Caucasus, while von Bock urged a single concentrated thrust into the Caucasus.

Street booths and overturned automobiles were used in Stalingrad as firing points, Red Star reported, and the Germans sniped heavily from buildings until they were blasted into retreat.

The Russians said fresh squadrons of nazi dive-bombers had been thrown into the battle.

More than 3,000 Germans were reported killed or wounded within the last 48 hours in the sector northwest of Stalingrad alone.

Bloody but apparently indecisive fighting also continued to rage in the Mordok sector of the central Caucasus, 50 miles above the Grozny oil fields, and along the Black Sea coast.

Daring British Raids

On the North Africa front, British headquarters disclosed a series of daring British land raids on

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Wide World War Analyst

Little Switzerland has ample cause for her anxiety over the large and increasing number of refugees who are begging admission at her frontiers, for there has been created a problem which Justice Minister von Steier warns is endangering the security of the nation.

Apart from the economic strain on the country's limited resources, and the risk of acquiring undesirable, her neutrality might easily be placed in jeopardy. That neutrality is one of Switzerland's greatest treasures, since the independence which she has safeguarded for six and a half centuries is involved. She has no reason to fear the allies, but a successful German invasion would mean bondage.

As a matter of fact, the Swiss success in maintaining their neutrality is one of the phenomena of the war. Their towering mountains afford them much protection against assault, but because they stand in the heart of trouble those same peaks are exposed to international political blasts from all directions.

There are several reasons why the Swiss have been able thus far to keep out of the conflict, and one of them is that the government has kept a shrewd and level head under exceptionally trying conditions. However, there's a lot more to it than that.

For one thing the axis powers, and the allies for that matter, find that Switzerland's neutrality provides them with an excellent listening-post. This Alpine republic is one of the world's best radio sets, for into it pours information from the four corners of the earth.

The country is full of the agents of both sides in the war. German secret service men rub elbows with agents from allied countries, and each spies on the other fellow.

Travelers from many countries drift in and out, and leave behind them a trail of information. Of course, it's not surprising that there should be secret agents in Switzerland, for they're everywhere these days. Our own country is full of them, as has been

Finds She's Wed to "Stranger"

Amnesia Victim, Stranger-Husband Will Try Marriage

Decide on Trial as Way Out of Fantastic Marital Dilemma

Hollywood, Sept. 23—(AP)—Pretty Mrs. Glory Weller Miller and the husband she says is a stranger to her after nearly five months of married life will try to find happiness in the bizarre situation into which a capricious fate has cast them.

By means of a trial marriage, they announced last night, they will attempt to form a permanent relationship out of what was to him a normal domestic life, but to her was merely a hiatus in her existence.

A psychiatrist yesterday predicted a complete recovery by Mrs. Miller from the amnesia which gripped her upon the death of her first husband, H. Pierce Weller, former Binghamton, N. Y., editor, and under the spell of which she said she married Henry Miller.

Find Three Beaten to Death in Home

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 23—(AP)—The lead-pipe slaying of a local high school athlete and his elderly parents was under investigation today as police held for questioning a man whom they refused to identify.

Apparently bludgeoned to death as they slept, the victims were John S. Kordal, about 67, a factory watchman; his wife Stella, about 65, and their son, Ernest, a senior in South Bend Catholic high school and a member of the football team there.

A relative, whose name was withheld, reported discovering late yesterday the bodies of the parents in a downstairs bedroom and that of Ernest in his bedroom upstairs. Coroner T. C. Goszczewski placed the time of the killing at either late Monday night or early Tuesday morning.

Police said they believed a three-foot piece of lead pipe which they found in the son's bedroom was used to batter the heads of the sleeping victims.

Internal Revenue Official and Wife Brutally Murdered

Hacked Bodies Found in Automobile North of Illinois Capital

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 23—(AP)—A hitch-hiker with blood-stained overalls was questioned and another hitch-hiker was sought today in the brutal slaying of a St. Louis federal official and his wife whose bodies were found stuffed in their automobile along a highway north of here last night.

The couple, identified by Illinois State Police Captain Thomas J. O'Connor as Charles A. Nash, about 56, an attorney and group chief of the Bureau of Internal Revenue department, and Eleanor M. Nash, 49, had been hacked to death, apparently with a handaxe found in the automobile. They had left their home Monday night, apparently for a short automobile ride.

Mrs. Nash's body was badly hacked and bruised and the ring finger had been cut from her left hand. Her body was found inside the automobile and that of her husband was discovered three hours later stuffed in a trunk of the car. The amputated finger was found beside Nash's body.

Hitch-Hiker Seized

A few hours after the discovery, police seized a hitch-hiker walking along the highway east of here. State's Attorney Alfred H. Greening said the man's overalls were bloodstained, but that he claimed he had cut himself while shaving.

The hitchhiker did not fit the description of a man who, C. E. Sutton of Springfield said, had come to his garage yesterday, reportedly from the scene of the crime, seeking an automobile tire. One tire was missing from the abandoned car.

Sutton said James E. McCue, a coal hauler, brought the man to his garage and said he had picked him up on the highway about 50 yards from the abandoned automobile. Sutton described him as of stocky build and light complexion, wearing a dirty white shirt and checked overcoat.

Struck Many Times

Mrs. Nash apparently had been struck on the head with a sharp instrument about 30 times, Coroner W. L. Drago said, although the small handaxe found in the car was clean as though it might have been wiped off.

Her body bore many bruises, her feet were black and weeds were caught in her clothing, as though she had walked, crawled or had been dragged some distance before being killed.

State's Attorney Alfred Greening said that the man held explained the bloodstains on his overalls by claiming he had cut himself while shaving.

Slain in St. Louis?

Dragoo said an examination of the bodies indicated that the couple probably had been slain in St. Louis Monday night and their slayer abandoned the machine about eight miles north of here because of a blowout on the left rear wheel. The car, police determined, had remained parked alongside the highway traveled U. S. highway 66 for about 12 hours before a motorist investigated and saw a body in the machine.

The motorist, Paul Edwards, Williamsville, Ill., automobile salesman, told O'Connor he had seen the car at 8 a. m. yesterday while driving to Springfield and when he again saw the car in the same location last night while enroute home he investigated. A note on the car window read: "Have come to Springfield for fire. Will be back soon."

Edwards notified state police who went to the scene and towed the machine to Springfield but it was not until three hours later that officers opened the trunk and found Nash's body.

At St. Louis, police learned from the Nash's son, Robert, that his parents had taken his car Monday night and were going for a short ride.

Had Worked Monday

Norman B. Eshleman, agent in charge of the internal revenue department and Nash's superior, said that Nash had worked Monday and that when he failed to report yesterday he assumed he was ill.

Eshleman said that Nash had been an employee of the department for more than 15 years and that he was in charge of 30 internal revenue agents in Missouri. He was a retiring official, Eshleman said, and there was nothing to indicate that he had any enemies. He said the Nash's had two sons, one of whom was a Catholic priest.

State's Attorney Alfred Greening of Sangamon county said he believed they were slain by a hitch-hiker, although other officers said they had not learned whether Mr. and Mrs. Nash had driven their car outside the St. Louis city limits Monday night.

Fourteen Soldiers Killed in Separate Crashes in Maine

Perham, Me., Sept. 23—(AP)—Burned and broken trees today marked the wooded hillside grave of an Army plane which carried all seven of its occupants to their death here yesterday.

Soldiers and residents of this tiny northern Maine community who worked through six miles of woods to the scene, found the craft's tail almost a quarter of a mile from the rest of the scattered wreckage.

Presque Isle, Me., Sept. 23—(AP)—The death of an Army plane's entire crew of seven left investigators today with only wreckage to help them seek the cause of the craft's crash in a wooded grove six miles northeast of here yesterday.

The plane, which officials of the Presque Isle air base said "crashed in poor visibility" while on a routine trip, fell near an open potato field.

The victims were identified by air base headquarters as:

Second Lieutenants R. L. Drogo, pilot, and J. Q. Crocker, co-pilot.

Gunnery on Italian Sub Poor Marksmen

(By The Associated Press)

Gunnery on an Italian submarine had such poor aim that the submarine finally was forced to expend a valuable torpedo to send a medium-sized U. S. merchant ship to the bottom last month, the Navy disclosed today in announcing the ship's loss off the northern coast of South America.

One of the 19 survivors who reached an east coast port said the sub closed to short range and unsuccessfully tried to shell their vessel.

"They were awful marksmen," one member of the crew said.

Nineteen men were missing from the ship which was the first announcement of a western Atlantic sinking in six days. It brought The Associated Press total of announced neutral and United Nations sinkings in the western Atlantic to 472.

Survivors were adrift 23 days before they were rescued.

Close Senate Vote On Boosted Parity Prices Is Forecast

Many Senators Believed Ready to Ignore Plea of Mr. Roosevelt

Washington, Sept. 23—(AP)—Republican Leader McNary (Or.) said today he would support efforts to write higher farm parity prices into the administration's anti-inflation bill.

At the same time, Democratic leader Barkley (Kentucky) told reporters the vote on this proposal to lift price ceilings on farm products under the legislation, despite the vigorous opposition of President Roosevelt, was likely to be extremely close in the senate.

"The outcome may depend on the decision of several senators who have not yet made known their position," Barkley said just before the senate opened its third day of debate and the house its second on a measure authorizing Roosevelt to stabilize prices, wages and salaries at September 15 levels, so far as practical.

The amendment to the administration bill submitted by Senators Thomas (D-Okla.) and Hatch (D-NM) would make it mandatory for the government to include the cost of all farm labor in computing parity prices. Under the pending legislation, no price ceilings could be placed on farm products below 100 per cent of parity.

In the house, first attempts to revise the anti-inflation bill on less controversial points met defeat. In swift succession, the representatives shouted proposals which would:

Proposals Defeated

1. Grant the President authority to make adjustments in wages, salaries and prices in any way "to aid in the effective prosecution of the war," as well as to correct "gross inequities" in those three cost-of-living factors.
2. Remove from his "stabilization" authority the condition that it could be exercised "as far as practicable"—thus making it man-

Important Convoy Arrives in Russia

London, Sept. 23—(AP)—An important United Nations convoy carrying large quantities of war material for the Red army has arrived at North Russian ports, the Admiralty announced today.

Although heavily attacked by German planes and submarines, the "great majority" of the ships reached their destinations, a communiqué said. It acknowledged some ships were lost.

The convoy included American, British and Russian ships.

None of its escorting warships were lost, the communiqué said, adding:

"It is not intended to assist the enemy by informing him of the extent of his lack of success against this convoy, but it is possible to say that his claims on this occasion have been more exaggerated than usual. No ship of the escort of this convoy was lost." (Communique complete).

The German high command asserted Sunday that nazi submarines and planes had smashed a great Russia-bound convoy in Arctic waters, sinking 38 merchant ships totaling 270,000 tons and destroying or damaging six warships in a running battle lasting six days.

Secret

Philadelphia, Sept. 23—(AP)—Simon Lake, designer who built the world's first big submarine, said he is prepared for the time when enemy submarines will venture up the East river in New York, torpedo docks and shipping and "lie unseen on the river bed for months if necessary—until they can get away."

"I know of a secret process for manufacturing air by which the ships could remain submerged for a year and not even impair the crew's health," he told a luncheon club without disclosing who developed the technique.

House Republicans Pledge Roosevelt Patriotic Support

Washington, Sept. 23—(AP)—The Republican delegation in the house, holding that "no party, class or section has a corner on patriotism or ability," stood pledged today to fight for a decisive victory in the war, and to recognize this country's "obligation" to help maintain peace through a world understanding and cooperative spirit.

A ten-point program of policies and principles was adopted at an extraordinary conference of house Republicans last night.

It linked with its stand on war policy, one which opposed any attempts to negotiate peace, a demand for "full and immediate utilization by the president of the most capable and efficient military and civilian leadership."

In the declaration, the representatives said the "Republican party has given and will continue to give to the President loyal, wholehearted and patriotic support in the war."

That assurance was followed immediately by the assertion:

Asks Information

"The President should not permit himself to be deterred from the responsibility which is his by those forces and influences which persist in continuing so-called social and government reforms at the expense of the war effort."

The resolutions were drafted by a five-member committee, including Dirksen of Illinois.

The minority group outlined its stand on domestic affairs, pledging a "constant and continued vigilance to eliminate waste and inefficiency," opposing excessive war profits, demanding the "prompt investigation and prosecution of war profiteers," and calling for a taxation program "based upon the ability to pay and designed to conserve and not destroy."

Maintaining that national unity depends upon an informed public opinion and free speech and a free press, the declaration called upon the government to furnish the public with "all information concerning the war effort consistent with military requirements."

Sept. 24-29 Will Be "V-Days" in Illinois

Chicago, Sept. 23—(AP)—To overcome a 10 per cent lag in Illinois' $57,500,000 September war bond quota Sept. 24 to 29 will be "V-Days."

The new bond selling campaign was announced yesterday by Norman Collins, state war savings staff administrator, who said 2-196,000 Illinois workers already are enlisted in the payroll savings plan for war bond purchases. The campaign aims at increasing this number by another 100,000 by Oct. 1, Collins said.

Pour 34,000 Rounds Ammunition Into Enemy's Positions

Aerial Offensive Over Southwest Pacific Is Reported Mounting

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Australia, Sept. 23—(AP)—General Douglas MacArthur sent fighter planes swarming down the Buna-Kokoda trail in New Guinea yesterday, pouring more than 34,000 rounds of ammunition into the Japanese and their war installations in a growing aerial offensive in the southwest Pacific.

MacArthur's fighters and bombers, in a series of attacks over New Guinea, New Britain and the northern tip of the Solomons, carried out the most extensive sweeps since the start of the warfare on New Guinea, today's communiqué indicated.

Roaring up and down the track between Buna and Kokoda over which the Japanese supply their forces in the Owen Stanley mountains, the fighters set fire to fuel and ammunition dumps, a warehouse and huts used by the Japanese, the communiqué said.

At the Buna end of the trail on the northeast coast of New Guinea, three motor launches and a barge were left in flames, an anti-aircraft position was riddled with bullets and silenced and Japanese troops suffered casualties, it was reported. Medium bombers followed up the attack last night with an attack on airdrome installations.

At Kokoda the allied fighters poured cannon and machine-gun fire into the Japanese positions, starting fires and silencing an anti-aircraft post, the communiqué said.

Over Coral Sea

Ranging out over the Coral sea bombers attacked the Japanese airdrome at Buika, on the northern tip of the Solomon Islands, starting large fires and explosions.

Other bombers visited the Japanese stronghold of Rabaul on New Britain, flying through a curtain of anti-aircraft fire to attack shipping in the harbor.

A Navy communiqué in Washington meanwhile disclosed that Navy and Marine dive-bombers hit and damaged a Japanese cruiser northwest of Guadalcanal, Marine-held island in the Solomons, during an attack Sunday.

The ground fighting in the Owen Stanley range where allied troops have checked a Japanese advance 32 miles from Port Moresby was not mentioned in the communiqué. A spokesman said this meant the general situation was unchanged.

Capt. Christian Petri of Cleveland led the group of American planes which blasted the Japanese communications lines between Buna and Kokoda.

"We came hedge-hopping across the valleys in ski fashion, up over the ranges and cruising around the valleys," Captain Petri said on his return. "We wanted to catch the Japs by surprise."

"There was no sign of activity and either they were caught unaware or they were hugging the ground hard as the boys came in behind me pouring out their machine-gun fire."

Jap Hold on Aleutians Turns to Our Advantage

Washington, Sept. 23—(AP)—Rep. Magnuson (D-Wash.), returning from an official visit to American fighting forces in Alaska, said today that the Navy definitely had turned Japanese occupation of the Aleutian Islands to our advantage.

In an interview Magnuson said: "The situation is good in Alaska now. The joint Army and Navy command is clearly now offensive minded. The occupation of the Aleutian Islands by Japan has definitely been turned to our advantage by the Navy, giving us the opportunity to sink Japanese ships we otherwise would have been unable to get to. It has clipped Japan's offensive wings if she had any idea of using the Aleutians as a stepping stone for an attack against Alaska."

Navy Flying Teacher Killed in Minnesota

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 23—(AP)—Stanley W. Davis, Jr., 24, of Jacksonville, Ill., a Navy student pilot was injured near here in an airplane crash on a training flight yesterday.

Converted River Tankers Will Become 'Tankers'

Kansas City, Sept. 23—(AP)—

Some converted river barges capable of carrying 5,000,000 barrels of oil will be delivered to the Federal Barge Lines within 60 days, Chester O. Thompson, Rock Island, Ill., told the Mississippi Valley Association yesterday.

Thompson is president of the Inland Waterways Corporation.

Putting the revamped barges into operation, Thompson said, will make up a large part of the shipping loss river traffic has suffered because of the war. The inland transportation from East Texas and southern Louisiana oil fields up the Mississippi and Ohio rivers to points in the east will help take the place of coastal traffic in tankers, hampered by submarines, he added.

Kansas City Veteran of Current War First To Seek to Join A. L.

Kansas City, Sept. 23—(AP)—

The American Legion voted Sunday to open its membership to veterans of the present war.

It got results sooner than expected. Sgt. Ross McCulley, Jr., honorably discharged because of an injury to his eye, applied for membership in the William J. Bland post.

The 24-year-old veteran—who may be the Legion's baby for a while at least—will have to wait, however, until congress amends the Legion charter to permit veterans of this war to join.

How old is your battery?

One out of every two will have a failure before January

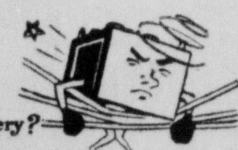

TODAY, if your battery is 21 months old, it may have about 70% of its original capacity (assuming it's had good care). From that point, however, it fades rapidly. At 24 months, it may muster only 20% effective after 25 months. If it's a "summer battery", look out. Since so many batteries are "summer batteries", one out of two will have a failure before January! "Summer batteries" handle summer driving okay but they're not up to the cold starting, car heating loads. Come a couple of cold mornings and your "summer battery" goes dead.

Nowadays, with reduced driving, your generator may not be doing an adequate recharging job. Better see your Standard Oil Dealer today. He knows how to protect your battery needs.

Do you drive enough now to recharge your battery?

Caution: If you have an extra battery which you're keeping for some future use, have it recharged at least every 30 days. Otherwise, it will badly deteriorate and not give good service when you need it. Take it to your Standard Oil Dealer now.

1. He takes a hydrometer reading (or uses volt-tester) to test the "charge" This is free. If "charge" is low...
2. He recharges the battery at small cost. Then...
3. He gives the "Capacitance Test". (Many Standard Oil Dealers have this equipment. Test is free.) This tells whether battery can hold "charge" or is "shot".

ARMY ORDERS CAUSE CHANGE IN PLANS FOR WALDER-PAUL WEDDING CEREMONY, SUNDAY

Weddings in which the bridegrooms are young men of the armed forces are necessarily planned at Uncle Sam's convenience these days, and it is not always possible to know 24 hours ahead just what turn camp events will take. For instance, Miss Wanda Walder had planned an all-white wedding for Sunday afternoon at Dixon's First Presbyterian church, but last evening, she was called to the telephone while attending a pre-nuptial party in her honor, to hear from her fiancé, Lieut. John F. Paul, that he has been made instructor of drill and command at Quantico, Va., and will be unable to come to Dixon for the bridal service. And so, Wanda will be leaving her bridal gown of white lace and chiffon behind when she sets out tomorrow night from Chicago for Quantico, where she and "Jack" expect to be married in a simple ceremony on Sunday at the post chapel. Instead of the traditional white, Wanda probably will be donning a fur-trimmed travel suit for her wedding.

Last evening's party guests, who had been invited to the home of Miss Louise Miller for a miscellaneous shower, complimenting the bride-to-be, had just completed a series of amusing games and had gone to the dining room for a buffet lunch, when Jack's call to his fiancée reached here. He has been stationed with the United States Marine corps at Quantico since May, and was one of few officers in a class of 250 to receive an appointment as instructor.

Sunday's marriage ceremony will culminate a college romance that began when Wanda met Jack at a Valentine dance at Cornell college in Mt. Vernon, Iowa, as a freshman. She has been employed with the Stewart-Warner corporation of the Green River ordinance plant.

Wanda's mother, Mrs. H. F. Walder, poured at the refreshment table for last evening's party. The honoree's gift cards read for Mrs. Eugene Doran, Mrs. L. H. McClendon, Mrs. Robert Grow, Mrs. Eldon Potter, Mrs. Myrtice Imfeld, Mrs. Oscar Witzleb, Mrs. Don McMahon, Mrs. Harold Brantner, Mrs. Ted Legner, Mrs. Gene Goddard, Mrs. Harriette Johnson, Miss Jean

Polo Couple to Be Honored by Dixon Church, Sunday School They Founded Fifty Years Ago

REV. AND MRS. ISAAC DIVAN

This retired Polo clergyman and his wife, who celebrated their sixty-third wedding anniversary some time ago, will be special guests at the semi-centennial celebration and Rally Day being planned for Sunday at Grace Evangelical church of this city. Mr. Divan, now 87, organized the church during his pastorate here, Sept. 14, 1892, and his wife, 86, started the Sunday school here June 6, 1892.

The church building was erected in 1893, and was dedicated Jan. 7, 1894. At the close of Mr. Divan's pastorate in 1896, the new church had a membership of 81; and at present, there are 344 members, with the Rev. George D. Nielsen as pastor.

There was unusual growth in certain years. For instance, in 1906, 100 members were received, largely through a series of tabernacle meetings conducted by Billy Sunday.

Grace church was assisted financially by the Illinois Conference Missionary society for the first 20 years of its history. Since

JUNIOR CLUBWOMEN ROAST WIENERS AT LOWELL PARK PARTY

Young women of the Junior Woman's club were picnicking in Lowell park last evening, with wieners sizzling over a blazing campfire. The event was a "Round-Up", in courtesy to new members, and attracted about 40 clubwomen and guests.

Composing the evening's hostess committee were Lois Rosbrook, Virginia Cook, Dorothy Cromwell, and Mrs. Phyllis Bylinowski.

The rubber collected during the June-July scrap drive amounted to 454,155 tons which should provide the reclaimers with capacity operations until the end of 1943. The reclaiming capacity is only 350,000 tons annually.

Colorado was a flat, level plain at one time.

Spending Tax

When Washington gets ready to throw overboard the unbalanced tax structure that has grown up through the years in order to substitute a sane
and sound war tax program, three quite separate considerations must be kept in mind.

First, obviously, a scientific tax system must raise a terrific amount of money. The National Bureau of Economic Research says $40,000,000,000, or about a third of our anticipated national income for next year.

Second, it must obtain that money from those who have the ability to pay without distress or economic disaster.

And third, it must take money from those who otherwise would spend it so as to produce inflation.

The problem really divides into two parts, each
calling for a different type of tax.

For the raising of a large, if not adequate amount of revenue, according to ability to pay, the income tax generally is considered suitable. Not the motley collection of good and bad provisions which we now have, but a scientifically designed income
tax based upon fundamental and permanent principles.

For the prevention of inflation, what could be more sane than a tax on spending, so graduated as to rest most heavily upon those items which are least necessary and the production of which has been eliminated or stringently regulated in favor of war goods?

In effect, of course, such a tax is a sales tax. In normal times there is strong opposition to any sales tax. But these are not normal times.

The most effective argument against a sales tax is the fact that it hits the little fellow, who spends most of his income, harder than it does the more prosperous who can save much of what they receive.

There are increasingly many who, disliking the sales tax on general principle, believe that the very qualities which in ordinary times make it anti-social
are the ones which now make it desirable.

But to be fair and effective, any sales tax we adopt must be a spending tax. It must encourage saving, particularly through war bonds and insurance,
and the paying off of bills and mortgages, by exempting such items from any substantial tax burden.

It must rest lightly upon the actual necessities
of life, notably food, clothing and shelter, for within

certain bounds these are both essential and relatively plentiful.

It must bear heavily upon such items as automobiles, refrigerators, washers, etc.—manufacture
of which has been virtually suspended—and upon luxuries.

The Treasury's idea of a spending tax was sound. Unfortunately it was hastily concocted, undigested and unrefined. But the theory is worthy of intelligent consideration.

Neutral Ireland

A veteran reporter, after wandering all around Ireland, reports on the popular Irish explanation for that country's neutrality in this war.

It isn't Anglophobia, says he. Rather, neutrality rests upon belief that Ireland could not survive a war as an independent nation. She would have to accept British dominance during the fighting, and,
the Irish fear, could not get rid of the British when peace came.

Boiled down, it appears that the Irish would prefer the risk of German domination to the possibility of British perfidy. Such interpretation is, of course, a libel upon Irish intelligence, but undoubtedly the Irish would prefer that to the alternative suggestion—that they are ducking the horrors of war by letting the British do their dirty work for them.

Russia and Rubber

The Baruch report takes government officials to task for failure to accept Soviet offers of information on the making of synthetic rubber. That, on its face, seems unfair. Russia's problem is very different than ours, and there is little that Moscow
can teach us that would be useful concerning the actual making of latex.

Perhaps what the committee had in mind was,
rather, the making of synthetic rubber into automobile tires.

The most successful publicized American experiment, by the B. F. Goodrich Company before the war, produced a first-class tire with tread and sidewalls made from synthetic latex. But some natural rubber had to be used as a binder for the fabric.
The Russians appear to have solved this difficulty.
We could use their advice and assistance.

Wrong-Way Fiorello

New York's Mayor LaGuardia is becoming notorious for his knack of doing the right thing in the wrong way. A liberal by instinct and intent,
his methods too often smack of the authoritarian.
A recent illustration is his invitation to small
boys to report fathers who patronize gamblers.

His Honor is interested, obviously, in procuring
the professionals who lure men into gambling
more than they can afford, and not in punishing the fathers. So far, excellent. But there is nothing more precious than the mutual confidence between a boy and his Dad. We hope that the Mayor gets and uses the dope on professional gamblers. But we hope he does not succeed in turning the boys of his city into spy snitchers against their fathers.

Tardy Milkman

Ragweed pollen—and let's hope they're allergic
—to the hundred New Jersey men who stopped airplane motor production for 15 minutes the other day, because their morning milk did not reach the vending machines on time.

Perhaps Hitler can spare a hundred iron crosses
for them.

Mr. Roosevelt who once condemned insurance policies which make awards in large print at the top
and then take them away in fine
print at the bottom, yet this formula is noticeable in the new price-wage resolution. It happened this way:

Roosevelt wanted the farm
price ceiling set as of any recent date, or parity—which would raise existing farm prices a little. Congressmen, in writing the legislation, notched the ceiling
higher by placing it at parity or
the highest price since January 1.

Some criticism arose about this,
so the congressional penmen
turned around and said, alright,
we'll write it Roosevelt's way and fix September 15 as the ceiling
date.

This was announced, displayed
in the press, and everyone concluded the ceiling had been slipped back—unless he read the resolution.

True, in the first sentence, the resolution directed Roosevelt to take the level of September 15,
"except as otherwise provided in this joint resolution". But, down in the body of the resolution, it
"otherwise provides", just what the congressmen wanted in the first place, fixing the ceiling at
the highest price since January 1
or parity prices.

The highest available price
ceiling is thus to be taken for each product, and, if you will apply the legislation to each, you will find it allows increases of 9
percent to 25 percent above existing levels.

So also with wages. The legislation approves the War Labor Board yardstick, allowing wage increases to the unions to whatever extent the cost of living has been increased since January, 1941.

As farm prices are bound to increase under the farm section, the cost of living is certain to continue to go up. Thus, wage increases are to be granted hereafter, if whatever degree the farm prices
are allowed to increase.

What we have here then, is not
a price or wage freezing policy,
but a formula to hold them loosely
in hand—Roosevelt's hand. That they both will continue to increase is obvious.

This resolution coupled with the
tax bill—now appearing simultaneously from the senate finance committee—afford the broad skeleton outline of economic war policy (a skeleton which seems to have been lost from public
sight in the confusing arguments
over details of the legislation in both cases).

The tax bill represents the ultimate extent to which corporations' taxes can go (the congressmen believe), without destroying the private initiative necessary to maintain production. This is the same key to the wage-price
policy, which the administration
also justifies as necessary to maintain farm and labor incentives for war production.

The individual rates of the tax
bill are unprecedentedly terrific,
but all agree—treasury and congress—that they will not prevent inflation. The fact is the enlargement of war incomes is restricted to the low income group,
which has not been paying income
taxes.

Practically all the increases in wages are restricted to this group,
but congress has found it difficult
or impossible to reach them with
taxes.

It could be done, to some extent, with a sales tax, because this low income group no doubt is the only one spending more money as a result of the war inflation, but
a sales tax would hit all.

Another way would be forced savings, but both methods are politically unpopular. Congress dropped them for a 5 percent
gross income tax which likewise
hits all.

It is not considered wise politically to go after the low wage groups separately, in any way, so what we have as a tax bill really is mainly a further tremendous increase on all, mostly on successful people, the best laborers,
farmers, the non-unionized middle
classes, the white collar workers
who have had no increase in wages, but will have to pay higher prices and tremendous taxes.
The bulk of additional revenue
will come from them, and from corporations.

The tax bill is, therefore, no restraint on inflation. It will leave possibly $35,000,000,000 of war
revenue to be raised annually
from treasury borrowing (bonds)
from banks and insurance companies, which hold the savings of the people.

No one likes it very much, because it does not do any job efficiently—raise enough money, prevent inflation or provide a fair
and equitable tax distribution,
but, as in the case of the wage
price bill, it seems to be about all that is politically feasible.

Fair Enough by WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Sept. 23—Mayor La-Guardia once said, in criticism of some judge whom he had appointed and who was displeasing
him, "When I make a mistake, I make a beaut", and the people of New York may say the same. The Little Flower has been going hay-wire lately and the pity of it is that the people had a chance to elect in William W. O'Dwyer, who ran against him last time, a man who showed decency, dignity and ability, but turned him down in fear that Tammany would return to power. If it had been possible to print or express over the air
the foul language which La-Guardia used deliberately and repeatedly in a comment which he intended for the press concerning a respectable citizen during that campaign, O'Dwyer probably would have beaten him, for the mayor's obscenity bespoke a filthy mind. Most of those who heard what LaGuardia said were then convinced, if they had not realized before, that he was unfit for office, but his language was so disgusting that it could not be used even against him.

Lately, LaGuardia urged New York children, whose fathers lose money betting on the races, to become dirty little snitches, after the manner of nazi and Russian children, who were encouraged to tattle on their parents to the secret police, and squeal to him.

Chided with more gentleness
than he deserved for this shocking
attempt to invade the family, La-Guardia spurned the chance to let
the matter slide as an impulsive
mistake and came back on the air with an incredibly corny plea to
some anonymous letter writer,
who had threatened to commit suicide in despair over racing
losses, and repeated his invitation
to the children.

The hammy drama of his appeal
to the bum sport who was willing to win on the races but contemplated self-destruction because he couldn't win for losing, was so phony that it was laughable, but at the same time humiliating and frightening. "Don't do it; don't do it," he hammed, and then begged the unknown and probably fictitious correspondent to come and see him and get saved. Of course, the man, if there was such a person, was under no compulsion to bet and the statement in the letter that he just couldn't break himself of the habit was more deserving of a kick in the pants than sympathy, because there is nothing narcotic about gambling and the man, if he exists
at all outside LaGuardia's imagination, wasn't really squawking
about the habit of gambling but against his inability to pick winners.

It was humiliating to hear such hysterical nonsense over the air
from the war mayor of the biggest city in the country and frightening to realize that this unreliable personality would be in charge in any crisis that might occur.

Nor was it reassuring to read
that he had ordered a graduating class of young policemen to beat
up on sight anyone whom they might suspect of being a tinhorn gambler or a punk. These are inexperienced young policemen who might be excused for taking a sock at the mayor, himself, under the terms of this advice, but it must be noted that he long ago
complicated the life and work of his veteran police force by forbidding the use of rough stuff in
the handling of communists who spat in their faces during riots
or in dealing with union gorillas.

In one case a policeman had a very good line on a slugger who bent a blackjack over an old woman's head and left her paral-yzed because in her business she handled goods produced by a manufacturer who happened to be under a union boycott. But the cop
refrained from bunting the suspect around because he was a union agent and thus under La-Guardia's special protection, and the case never was broken, although the policeman knows who did it.

LaGuardia may fool the young policemen for a few hours, but not for much longer. The whole department has suffered many humiliations and much other distress
at his hands, and it is a marvel
that the men remain so loyal and brave and, altogether, the best police force in the United States.
He delights to bully good men by virtue of his official authority and
when people who are not his official subordinates, such as the reporters, stand up to him he gets hysterical.

Always a great hand at creating personal publicity, LaGuardia
got away with his pose a long time
ere he found that there were some people whom he couldn't push around and began to make a spectacle of himself. There was a clique of class-anglers in the press
gallery when he was in the house
of representatives in Washington
who built him up as a great liberal and when he lost that job and was hanging around New York,
looking for something to do, he was a natural to kick Tammany
after the smelly scandals of the Jimmy Walker regime. He owes his job to the decent press of New

Hoarding of Medical Supplies Discouraged

Pointing out that any unexpected emergency can be met by present civilian medical and hospital
resources, Dr. H. L. Pettitt, emergency medical service coordinator of the Illinois State Council of Defense, today asked that hoarding
and dead storage of medical and
hospital supplies be discouraged.
In a message to councils of defense, Dr. Pettitt said that the medical profession and hospitals
soon will be forced to depend upon dealers' stocks if efficiency is to be maintained. The continued shortage of raw materials, he said, indicates that even the armed forces
may have difficulty in obtaining supplies.

Stocks on the shelves of dealers
constitute the only reserve of medical and hospital equipment which may be available to meet civilian needs, Dr. Pettitt said. Councils were asked to call the situation to the attention of hospitals and medical societies.

MUSIAL'S GRAND SLAM HOMER BIG BLOW IN REDBIRDS' WIN

NO RELIEF

By NEA Service
Chapel Hill—Every Friday is quiz day in the academic department of the U. S. Navy Pre-Flight School here and every Friday until Dec. 4 cadet members of the football squad will be enroute to a game—but they won't miss the quizzes. Included in the traveling equipment of every cadet will be textbooks, notebooks and well-sharpened pencils. And included in the party will be an officer from the academic department. Thus, every Friday the cadets will take their regular tests in mathematics, physics and essentials of naval service. Lieut. Norman Loader was prepared to preside over the written quiz session as the Cloudbusters sped to the scene of their clash with Harvard at Cambridge, Sept. 26. Seeing players studying and attending class while on train may be a surprise to others.

34 to 0 in its first start, and Hall Township of Spring Valley are not scheduled to play this week. Both are members of the Northern division.

NOTICE

On page 7 of today's Evening Telegraph is a complete schedule of all the major football games to be played this season. This schedule, sponsored by Doug's Three Deuces, will be a handy thing to have around for grid fans. Clip it from the paper and save it and you can keep yourself informed of what goes on in the world of the gridiron this fall.

STUHLREHRER, LEAHY GLOOMY AS GAME APPROACHES

Harry Downcast, Frank Impressed With Badger Defense

Chicago, Sept. 23 (AP)—They're painting a lot of gloom around Coaches Frank Leahy of Notre Dame and Harry Stuhldreher of Wisconsin, whose football teams meet this week in one of the Midwest's topnotch games. Both being former Notre Dame gridders, one might think there would be light in their eyes and devilry in their hearts as they anticipate Saturday's contest. But observers report Leahy glum and pessimistic; Stuhldreher as discouraged.

Both watched Stuhldreher's Wisconsin team defeat Camp Grant's soldiers, 7-0 last week. Leahy came away impressed by the Badgers' defense. Stuhldreher commented: "If we play like that against Notre Dame, we'll lose, 60-0."

Both are perturbed by a series of injuries that have weakened their squads and especially their ace ball carriers—Pat Harder of Wisconsin and Dippy Evans of Notre Dame.

Stuhldreher said "we won't have Bud Seelinger in the backfield because of an injury to his hip and his loss will hurt, especially on top of Frank Granitz's ineptitude. Harder will play Saturday, I suppose, but he has been on the shelf so long now he will have to get into condition all over again."

Leahy expressed much the same concern about Evans and Creighton Miller, alternate right half, who have participated in few contact drills since practice began. Yesterday Leahy lost left end Jack Zilly, who dislocated a shoulder.

Contributing to Leahy's pessimism might have been the touch of flu he suffered earlier in the week.

Camilli's 12 Frame Blast Defeats N. Y.

Three More Wins Would Clinch Pennant for St. Louis Boys

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer
The St. Louis Cardinals look like they're just a deep breath and a loud sneeze away from the National league pennant now, and it's probably just as well for the nervous systems of all concerned.

In this year's stretch drive, it seems the Cardinals and the second-place Brooklyn Bums are specializing in seeing who can raise more lumps in the most throats in every game.

Each time they go to the post, both outfits are keeping everyone in suspense from start to finish before making up their minds either to pull a game out of the fire or blow it.

On Monday, for instance, the Cards had to go nine innings before they decided to knock over the Pirates. The same day, the Dodgers got enough runs in the first inning to flail the Phils, but in every frame from there right down to the wire they were in hot water.

And yesterday it was a case of "This is where we came in" again, although St. Louis didn't let it last as long this time before pounding the Pirates 9-3 to remain 2½ games up in the pennant race. With the win, the Birds moved into a spot where all they need to clinch are three victories, three Dodger losses or any combination of same.

Cincy Downs Cubs Twice

But the Bums, on the other hand, had to come from behind three times yesterday against the Giants, and then Dolph Camilli had to clout his 25th homer in the 12th inning to break it up.

Out in St. Louis, meantime, the Cardinals had their faithful moaning low when the Pirates pushed three runs over in the third. Then, without any advance warning, the Birds blew up and before you knew it the Redbirds had six runs. Four of these came waltzing around when Stan Musial hit a homer with the bases loaded.

The Bucs presented the Cards with three more runs in the seventh. At the finish, the Pirates had been guilty of such "big league" baseball as five errors, a wild pitch and a hit batsman.

Paul Derringer and Johnny Vander Meer served up a five-hitter and a three-hitter, respectively, and the Cincinnati Reds rolled over the Chicago Cubs twice by scores of 4-1. It was no trick at all for the New York Yankees to take a 3-1 decision from the Senators behind Atley Donald's five-hit elbowing. Dippy Trout tossed a six-hitter as Detroit downed the Chicago White Sox 9-2.

The Inspection Dept. Wolves dropped its final game of the series last night to the Comptrollers No. 3 team and thereby lost undisputed possession of first place in the Green River Ordinance plant bowling league standings.

The Wolves are now tied for the lead with the Engineering Dept. and the Comptrollers Number one outfit. Each of the three teams has a 5-1 record after two nights of play.

The Engineering Dept. was taking three straight from the Comptrollers Number two as the number one Comptrollers bunch was sweeping its series with the Police Dept. Number one.

The Comptrollers Number two, by losing to the engineers, remains in sole possession of last place having won none while dropping six.

Pabst, shooting in the engineers' number two slot, was the individual star of the evening. In his first game, he scored a mediocre 146. But he jumped to 200 in his second try and 246 in his final set for individual game and series (592) honors.

With Pabst showing the way, the engineers edged out the Comptrollers Number one team for the high team series record, 2836 to 2814.

However, it was left to the Personnel Dept., in the closest match of the evening, to roll the high team game, 991. The Personnel boys dropped their first set to the Ordinance Dept. Number two, 857-951, but they came back to take the next two, 992-904 and 991-912, for a three point edge in the series scoring, 2770-2767.

A TRUMP ACE TO LEAD WITH—THAT'S YANKS' TINY BONHAM

By DILLON GRAHAM
Wide World Sports Editor

New York—The big boy who clinched the last World Series for the Yankees with a miserly 4-hit masterpiece may lead off on the mound for the American league champions in this year's series.

Ernie Bonham's deceptive slants had the Dodgers swinging futilely in that fifth and final game last October. This fall finds Tiny the biggest winner among Yankee pitchers, perhaps the only one who will gain 20 triumphs, and Pilot Joe McCarthy probably will lead baseball felt like a pea and gave him the confidence that he could peg it across the plate at just the spot he chose.

That's his big asset now. But he has a tantalizing change of pace, a good fast ball and the ability to confuse batters by throwing at several different speeds. And the forkball. That's his specialty. But he uses it sparingly, only several times a game.

It's just too bad the guy can't throw a curve!

CHANGE OF MIND

By NEA Service
Chicago—Jimmy Wilson wonders what happened to all that smart Leo Durocher and Charley Dressen baseball which some close followers claimed was winning for Brooklyn when the Dodgers were 10 games in front.

"When they blew up," asserts the manager of the Cubs, "the brain buys said they were not winning because Dolph Camilli, Joe Medwick and Reiser were not hitting. I suspected they might get around to admitting that hitting and pitching were important, too."

BUDDY HASSETT ONLY NEWCOMER IN YANK INFIELD

Old-Timers Gordon, Rizzuto, Rolfe Fill Out Inner Works

By GAYLE TALBOT
New York, Sept. 23 (AP)—With one minor exception, the same Yankee infield that chilled Brooklyn's hopes with seven double plays in the '41 World Series will be in there performing near-miracles again when the first wartime play-offs open a week from today on the "skinned" diamond at Sportsman's park in St. Louis.

The lone newcomer to the champions' inner works is Buddy Hassett, who has replaced Johnny Sturm at first base. While he is not exactly a ball of fire, Buddy is at least as good a first sacker as Sturm.

Incomparable Joe Gordon still holds down second and three or four acres of adjacent territory; little Phil Rizzuto scampers like a rabbit around the shortfield, and the veteran Red Rolfe at third is in better health than he was a year ago. It is, without much argument, the best infield in baseball and considerably better than that of the Cardinals.

Flash 'Just As Good'

Yankee partisans do not go so far as to claim that Gordon is better than he was a year ago, even though his season batting average is nearly 50 points higher. They are perfectly content to say that Joe is "just as good." What they do think, though, is that Rizzuto has taken on a little added polish by having played another season with the flash.

Rolfe was a very sick third-baseman during the '41 series and was not able to play a game until mid-season this year, but since then his health has improved slowly and surely and he declares he feels strong enough to hustle right through even a seven-game series.

About the best that can be said for the Cardinals' inner defense is that it numbers a couple of the National league's outstanding stars—Martin Marion at short and Jimmy Brown on second. Johnny Hopp, playing his first full season at first, has not lived up to his promise of last year. George Kurovski, a rookie, has played fine ball during the Cards' pennant dash, but scarcely stacks up for World Series purposes against a man of Rolfe's experience.

Marion has developed into a near-sensation at shortstop this year. He would have to be rated at least the equal of Rizzuto in any department.

Adolf Hitler Divides Nordics in Two Classes
Moscow, Sept. 23—(AP)—A new racial policy, dividing the vaguely defined nordic race into "full-valued" and "devalued" elements has been outlined by Adolf Hitler, the official soviet news agency Tass reported today in dispatches from Stockholm.

The division into first class and second class nordics has become necessary because nordics living on the periphery of Germany have allowed themselves to become debased by inferior foreign elements, Tass asserted, quoting a curious secret document which it said had been circulated among German authorities in the occupied Scandinavian countries and the Netherlands.

Close Senate Vote

datory that he act in all three fields.

3. Require the President to fix "maximums" for prices, wages and salaries, and change the proposed broad basic level for computing the three from Aug. 15, 1942 (Sept. 15 in the senate version of the legislation) to the peacetime standard of December 1, 1941.

However, the house tentatively adopted an amendment offered by Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich.), ranking minority member of the banking committee, striking from the bill the President's authority to stabilize "other factors affecting the cost of living" besides those of wages, salaries and prices.

Leaders Taken Aback
Administration leaders in the senate, apparently taken aback by yesterday's surge of support for the parity change, made hasty overnight canvass for votes.

Farm state lawmakers want the increased cost of hired farm labor taken into account in computing parity prices. This is not done under present law and is important in the pending bill because that measure provides that farm price ceilings may not be set lower than full parity, or the highest price between January 1 and Sept. 15 this year, whichever is higher.

"We're going to pass this amendment 2 to 1," predicted Chairman Smith (D-SC) of the senate agriculture committee.

A similar amendment was being prepared on the house side by Chairman Fulmer (D-SC) of the house agriculture committee. The President's leaders in the senate were ready to present their side of the argument today. To persuade wavering voters, they were ready to cite Roosevelt's letter of last Thursday to the chairman of the senate and house banking committees, in which he wrote:

"I should like to make clear my unalterable opposition to any recomputation of parity at this time. In my message of September 7 I stated, 'in computing parity, we should continue to use the computation of the bureau of agricultural economics made under the law as it stands today.' This will continue to be my policy."

Nub of Arguments
The nub of the farm bloc arguments was that farmers are losing labor to the war plants, and that unless they are given higher prices for their products they will not be able to compete in the labor market and the nation may face a paralyzing food shortage.

The Office of Price Administration estimated that under the new parity formula proposed by the farm bloc the cost of living would increase by $3,000,000,000 to $3,500,000,000, or a jump of 4 to 5 per cent in the index.

The announced purpose of the administration's anti-inflation bill is to effect a general stabilization of prices, wages and other factors in the cost of living, on the basis of Sept. 15 levels.

Under a committee amendment, the President could modify farm price ceilings to take into account increased labor costs. This provision was not strong enough to suit lawmakers from farm states; they demanded a specific recognition of the increased wages of farm help.

Both the house and senate bills propose establishment of a floor under farm prices at 90 per cent of parity, supported by government loans.

As for wages, the senate bill provides that no employer shall pay and no employee shall receive wages or salaries "in contravention of the regulations promulgated by the President." There is a further provision that except in cases of gross inequities, wages shall not be reduced below the highest level paid between Jan. 1 and Sept. 15 for any particular kind of work.

New Fight Shapes Up
Meanwhile, a new congressional fight over poll taxes shaped up today as proponents of their repeal moved for a house vote Oct. 12 after obtaining sufficient signatures to a petition forcing a repeal bill out of the judiciary committee.

The Speaker's office announced the 218th signature constituting a majority, was obtained late yesterday. The petition had been before the house since early last year after the judiciary committee failed to act on a repeal bill introduced Jan. 3, 1941, by the late Representative Geyer (D-Calif.).

Under house rules, any member who signed the petition may call up the bill for house action on the second or fourth Monday of the month, provided seven legislative days have passed since the required number of signatures were obtained.

The drive for signatures gained impetus during the recent controversy over a clause in the service men's absentee voting act providing that poll taxes need not be paid as a prerequisite to soldiers voting by mail.

The Geyer bill would make it illegal to require the payment of a poll tax for the privilege of voting in any election for presidential electors, senators or national representatives.

Wickard's Warning
Secretary of Agriculture Wickard said today that unless "we find some way to deal with the farm labor problem and other problems of farm production satisfactorily, we must find some way in the not too distant future to deal with a shortage of food."

Testifying before the house agriculture committee about a growing farm labor shortage which he said "cannot be overlooked or ignored," Wickard suggested that "a national labor service act should be given consideration."

"It is not simply a question affecting agriculture," Wickard said. "It is a question which affects the entire war effort."

While 1942 food production has reached a record high, he told the committee beginning an investigation of the whole farm problem, "the future is much darker."

"We begin on the 1943 crop with a labor situation far more threatening than a year ago and every sign points to our losing more and more men," the secretary testified.

Wickard estimated that by the end of 1943, farms might lose as many as 2,000,000 more men to the armed forces and to industry. His estimate was based on an Army of from 8,000,000 to 10,000,000 men by the end of next year.

"At Turning Point"
"We have now come to a turning point in the road," he said. "We face 1943 with the prospect of less machinery, less farm labor, and probably less favorable weather. At the same time the need for production is going to be as great in 1943 as it has been in 1942, and may be greater, depending upon the fortunes of war."

Up to now, Wickard said, agriculture had absorbed a large part of the drain on its man power through the expanded use of women, children and older people, but he added that "this cannot meet the situation much longer."

"Neither," he said, "can the problem be met by paying higher wages. We must recognize that farmers simply cannot pay wages to compete with war industry."

Representative Pace (D-Ga) pressed Wickard for an opinion on farm bloc pressure to include farm labor costs in calculating parity in the anti-inflation bill, a step opposed by Roosevelt.

"If we increase farm prices to put them on a competitive basis with other commodities, we will increase the cost of living," the secretary replied, adding:

"We ought to be very careful we don't do something here which would entirely offset any controls we may adopt."

"I'd like to see wages on the farm frozen," Wickard commented in reply to another question by Pace.

The secretary of agriculture outlined six proposals designed to help farmers meet 1943 labor problems. They included:

Retention on farms of as many experienced managers as possible; transportation of workers from surplus labor areas to critical areas; training of inexperienced persons in the fundamentals of farming; expanded use of women and young people on farms, more recruiting for industry in cities and less in farm areas, and fuller utilization of under-employed on farms by increasing their production.

Asked by committee members whether it might be necessary to enact legislation to keep people on farms, Wickard replied:

"We may be facing that sooner or later."
When Wickard said the labor situation had become "very critical" in the last month, Representative Andersen (R-Minn) remarked that the situation had been developing for the last "six or eight months" and "not a damned thing has been done about it."

three vital enemy points 500 miles behind the axis' Egyptian line. A communique said the British raiding patrols, striking deep into the Libyan desert, inflicted heavy blows on enemy forces, supplies and planes at the big supply port of Bengasi, and the out-post garrison at Gialo oasis.

Gialo lies 235 miles due south of Bengasi and 500 miles southwest of the El Alamein-Qattara battle line in Egypt.

A British war bulletin said the desert fighters who carried out the spectacular thrusts had returned now to their bases. It listed these feats:

At Gialo—"Considerable casualties" inflicted on the axis garrison, and destruction to ammunition dumps and supplies.

At Bengasi and Barce—more than 30 planes wrecked on the ground and several others shot down "while attacking our troops", heavy casualties inflicted on enemy troops and motor transports.

amply demonstrated by our very alert F. B. I.

Then Switzerland provides a useful medium through which the axis can make the money transactions necessary to provide funds for their workers abroad. German money is unacceptable abroad, but Swiss money is good the world over, and this can be secured by the axis by creating a trade balance in their favor. Such transactions naturally are normal and in accord with neutrality.

Switzerland also provides a grand general post-office for all nations. Undoubtedly Germany and her satellites receive not only information but money and other valuables in the mails. Also, all hands are happy to have the International Red Cross in Switzerland.

However, I should say that Swiss security from attack by Hitler rests largely in the fact that Germany and Italy must have access to the Simpson and St. Gothard railroads which pass through three of the world's longest tunnels—the Lotschberg, Simpson and Gothard—and are the chief highways between the Mediterranean and northern Europe.

These tunnels have been heavily mined by the Swiss and undoubtedly would be blown up should Germany make an attack on Switzerland.

"I've decided to stay and give him a chance," said Mrs. Miller, 25, to interviewers. "We will live together a while to see how it works out. It will be sort of a trial marriage."

"That's all right with me," Miller concurred. "I feel sure everything will work out fine. I'm willing to try it for a while."

In Separate Quarters

They will occupy separate quarters in the Hollywood apartment in which they have resided since their Las Vegas, Nev., marriage May 1.

Mrs. Miller said she was becoming accustomed to the new life to which she awoke Friday, in a city strange to her and wearing clothing she did not recognize.

"She's welcome to a divorce if she wants one," declared Miller, 42, "but she has no immediate thought of it. If she divorced me claiming she didn't remember marrying me there would be a lot of people trying it."

Mrs. Miller's plight was disclosed Sunday night when she appeared at Hollywood police station following her disappearance Friday. She told police she found herself driving on a North Hollywood street in a strange automobile. Miller meantime had reported her absence, and they were reunited. But when informed Miller was her husband she screamed and became hysterical.

She told police her last memory was of entering her Atascadero, Calif., home Nov. 1, 1941, and finding her first husband, Weller, dead in a chair.

Reported Shooting in Timber Investigated

An alleged argument between two Dixon hunters and a land owner led to a reported shooting affair about noon today near the Mt. Union cemetery, which was being investigated by State's Attorney Morey Pires and Sheriff Gilbert Finch. Luther Brierton was said to have been shot in the left hand by one of the hunters, but at a late hour no arrests had been made.

It was reported that the two Dixon men had shot squirrel in the timber near the Brierton farm when Brierton appeared and ordered them to hand over their game, then ordered them from the premises. They complied, handing over the squirrels and when on their way to their car, one of the hunter's gun discharged and some of the shot lodged in Brierton's hand.

The two hunters came to Dixon and went to the sheriff's office where they made a report of the incident. Later Brierton came to Dixon to have his wounds dressed and the police were notified. Brierton was taken to the court house and the two hunters were ordered to report so that an investigation of the affair could be made.

Report British in Inland Capital of Madagascar Today

BULLETIN

Port Louis, Mauritius, Sept. 23—(AP)—British troops have occupied Tananarive, the inland Capital of Madagascar, according to a broadcast from the city heard here tonight.

London, Sept. 23—(AP)—British troops were reported virtually at the outskirts of Tananarive, Capital of Madagascar, today after breaking through "stiffening resistance" by Vichy French troops at Mahitsy village some 15 miles north of the Capital.

The French troops immediately north of the Capital had taken their stand in positions supported by artillery, a British army communique said.

The forces approaching Tananarive from Brickaville on the east coast also have made good progress along the road and railway leading to the Capital, the communique said.

It is reported that the British troops now approaching the outskirts of the Capital from the north encountered French troops in positions supported by artillery about 15 miles from the city.

This resistance was overcome, the communique said, when the British took their last objective at Mahitsy village.

Meanwhile, another British column advancing down the northwest coast made contact at Antsohihi with a column sent north, putting 300 miles of highway between Diego Suarez and Majunga in British hands. Majunga is the port on the northwest coast where the main British landing forces went ashore. Diego Suarez is the naval base at the northern end of the island that was occupied last May.

Rantoul Suffers From Shortage of Physicians

Washington, Sept. 23—(AP)—Rantoul, Ill., is one of the cities throughout the nation where a shortage of physicians is acute, the procurement and assignment service of the war manpower commission has reported to WMC Chairman Paul V. McNutt.

Plans for emergency action to provide medical care to the communities which have a doctor shortage are now being prepared by the WMC and the U. S. public health service, McNutt announced yesterday.

Onions That Die Standing Should Be Used Quickly

Onions that die standing up are abnormal and will not keep well, so should be used as soon as possible, suggests Lee A. Somers, vegetable extension specialist of the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Dry onions that come from sets or seedlings are the first crop to be harvested from the garden and kept for storage. Those from seed come later.

First evidence of maturity in an onion is the drying out of cells at the neck, or about an inch above the bulb. As these dry out, the stems or tops of the onions break over and lie on the ground. The tops of the stems above the neck may still be partially green at this time, but they soon dry out, too. Usually all the stems will lie in one direction.

When 95 to 100 per cent of the stems are down, the crop is ready for harvest. The bulbs should be pulled out of ground on a dry and sunny day and as much dirt as possible shook off. Then the onions are put on some form of rack to cure them. They should never be piled in a heap or placed in a box or barrel. The rack should be out of direct sunlight and out of the rain, but should be in an open place where the air can circulate freely around every bulb. This may be on the back porch, in an open shed, in a garage or any similar place. Some persons braid together or tie together bunches of onions and hang them up to cure.

4 Varieties Apples Are Victory Specials

Illinois' greatest contribution to the "victory special" period for apples, which has been proclaimed for Sept. 17 to 26, is a plentiful supply of eating apples of Jonathan, Grimes, Delicious and Golden Delicious varieties, according to J. W. Lloyd, professor of fruit marketing at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Available fresh from the orchards throughout September and October, these varieties are full of juice and in their best condition for eating during these two months.

These four varieties follow each other in order of ripening. Harvesting of Jonathans this year started in southern Illinois the last week in August, the crop maturing later in sections farther north in the state. By the time the Jonathan harvest is completed, the Grimes are ready. These are followed by the Delicious and Golden Delicious, both of which are aptly named.

While all four varieties are superb dessert apples, the Jonathan and Grimes are good also for cooking, baking and in making pies, but the Delicious and Golden Delicious are distinctively eating apples, Lloyd said.

Salvage Officials to Get Tough With Those Who Don't Sell Scrap

Sell your scrap now before Uncle Sam takes it over and sells it, was the stern warning today of the salvage committee, Illinois State Council of Defense.

Acting on reports that a number of persons have refused to turn in sizeable piles of scrap, Robert Tiekken and George M. Eisenberg, co-chairmen of the committee, said they had furnished a list of names of such persons to the War Production Board enforcement division with a recommendation that the scrap be requisitioned.

"Owners who refuse to sell their scrap are guilty of sabotaging the war effort", the co-chairman said. "The country must have scrap if our steel mills are to continue to operate. If the mills close down, so does production of tanks, guns, planes shells and ships".

Pointing out that the WPB has the power to requisition scrap, Tiekken and Eisenberg said in a number of communities and rural districts all but a few persons had salvaged their scrap metal. In the national interest, they said, it is time to get tough with those who refuse to cooperate in the war effort by withholding their scrap.

Discharge of Employees in Class 1-A Criticized

Chicago, Sept. 23.—(AP)—Discharge of employees merely because they are classed 1-A in selective service is discouraged by Col. Paul C. Armstrong.

The head of the Illinois selective service, in a letter to several employers' organizations said "this practice ruins the morale (of the men) and their confidence in America as a country of justice and opportunity."

He urged that 1-A men be kept on the job until they are actually called for duty.

Safety Patrol

The local junior high school held its annual election of school safety patrol members on Monday, Sept. 14 and elected 18 members to represent them on the patrol for the coming year. Forty-four pupils filed petitions to have their names placed on the ballot this year. The ten eighth grade pupils honored by their classmates by election to the patrol are: Spencer Avey, Marjorie Garrison, Donna Lizer, Kathrine Gartner, Lavon Gilbert, Raymond Arnold, Dick Johnston, Daniel Neumann, Charles Ford and Darrel Waddelow. The eight seventh graders to be elected this year are: Millie Lamm, Robert Niklaus, Donna Fler, Harry Bartow, Louise Hudson, Tommie Brown, Jim Rouse and Doreen Fler. Robert Royer, home room teacher for the eighth grade, will act as advisor for the patrol this year.

Harold Palmer, local chief of police, who has cooperated in the establishment and operation of the safety patrols in the past will meet with the newly elected members to assist in the organization of the new patrol. On Tuesday, October 13 the patrol will be officially inducted by the village board at its regular meeting. It will start functioning on Monday of next week and the pupils with their white Sam Brownie belts will again be at their posts to caution pedestrians and motorists alike to observe safety rules on the local streets. It is hoped that the general public will give them the same splendid cooperation as in the past.
